

Greetings from the new look Goldenfields Water!

Friday May 26 2017

Goldenfields Water's first major makeover in two decades is complete, with the unveiling of a new logo, brand and website this month.

General Manager Phillip Rudd said it was the perfect time to update the organisation's look as it moves into its 20th year of operation.

"The way we go about delivering essential water supply services to communities in the South West Slopes and Riverina regions has recently entered an era of new technology, new solutions and new standards of customer service.

"Our new logo and brand symbolises this new era.

"It is modern, innovative and a sign of quality, which represents the kind of water services we want to deliver each day to our almost 11,000 customers," Mr Rudd said.

The new, long-awaited Goldenfields Water website is also up and running at www.gwcc.nsw.gov.au.

"Our new website offers a range of modern features that make it easier and quicker for our customers to interact with us and find out more about their water supply services," Mr Rudd added.

"From a better browsing experience and more user-friendly content through to improved accessibility, visitors to the website will definitely notice the improvements."
